AMATEUR DRIVERS A FEATURE AT THE FAIR

An added feature of the harness races at the Washington Fair, which opened today, and one that is regarded as exceptionally attractive, is an amateur drivers' race, in which members of the Pittsburg Horsemen of Pittsburg will hold reins over a quartet of the finest trotters in this section. Instead of a purse H. S. Grayson, president of the fair association, has offered a handsome trophy, to be known as the "President's Cup," to the winner of the race. The race will be staged Wednesday afternoon.

PROMINENT MAN TAKEN BY DEATH

Wenzel A. Miksch, for the past sixteen years superintendent of the decorating department of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company in Charleroi, died at his home in North Charleroi, this Tuesday morning at 4:30 o'clock aged 60 years.

Mr. Miksch was born in Bohemia Austria, March 7, 1860, where in his young manhood he learned the art of glass decorating. He came to the United States in 1881, locating in East Liverpool, Ohio, where he worked for a time and from there moved to Monaca, where he engaged in business with his brother for a period of three years. In 1885 he went to Pittsburg, and for thirteen years was foreman of the Thomas Evans Glass company. In 1897 he perfected his patent for the decoration of glass, and was one of the organizers of the American Glass Specialty company. In 1904 he came to Charleroi, where he assumed charge of the decorating department of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company, which position he held up until the time of his death.

Mr. Miksch was President of the Charleroi Turn Verein, and was also a member of Germania Lodge of Masons of Pittsburg and of the Royal Arcanum of Charleroi. While a resident of Monaca he took a prominent part in the local affairs of the town, and served for a time in Council and was President of the body. Since coming to Charleroi, however, Mr. Miksch devoted himself entirely to his profession,in which he was very successful.

He is survived by his widow, five daughters, Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. F. W. Pieper, Mrs. C. E. Clegg of Charleroi, Mrs. A. S. Sickman of North Charleroi and Mrs. I. E. Rowland of Elizabeth and two sons, Arthus W. Miksch of Charleroi and Carl E. Miksch of North Charleroi; seven grandchildren and four brothers in Beaver county.

Funeral services will be held at the late home of the deceased, North Charleroi, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, interment on Thursday at Union cemetery, Monaca.

MANY WOMEN WILL BE ADDED TO TAX LIST

Assessor G. B. Nelan has assessed about 400 women in the second and third precincts of Charleroi. He estimates that about 2,500 women will be added to the Charleroi taxables as the result of assessing in which he is now engaged. Registration of women is proceeding slowly here, although it is believed that many of them will take advantage of the opportunity to qualify for voting

VIOLATED PAROLE; MUST SERVE TIME

John Christ, Jim Zervos and Mike Zervos, three Greeks, from Donora, who were before court at Washington about a year ago, for running a gambling house, were brought up Monday by Parole Officer F. H. Mitchell on a charge of having violated their parole. When they were arrested before they entered plea of guilty. They were each sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $1 and to 60 days in the county jail. After serving ten days they were paroled. It appears that afterwards Christ was arrsed and served 30 days in jail.

Officer Mitchell reported to the court on Monday that the three men had been arrested recently by the police of Donora in a raid in which 22 others were captured. They were all sentenced to pay fines, which they did, after which Mitchell brought the three defendants before the court on the charge of having violated their paroles.

Christ has a brother living in Columbus, who was present and made a plea to have him paroled so that he could take him to Columbus, but the court refused,saying that it would not be in accord with the principles of the parole system. They were each sentenced to pay the additional costs, a fine of $1 and to cimplete their sentences in the county jail. This will make 50 days that each will have to serve. They have already paid $242.78 on the fines in their former cases.

INQUEST HELD ON DEATH OF WILLIS

A coroner's jury composed of R. O Vetter, C. A. Wright, H. J. Adams, George Newton, G. B. Nelan and John Maines, and supervised by Coroner Greenlee, held an inquest this morning to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Leslie Allen, who was fatally injured while riding in a street car, near Allenport, last Saturday evening.

Nothing new was brought out in the evidence submitted, and after examining a number of witnesses the jury rendered a verdict "that the said Leslie Willis came to his death near Allenport by being hit by a trolley pole, fracturing his skull, while riding on a street car of the Pittsburg Railways company, and that we the jury do recommend the removal of said pole, or any other obstrucion that may be dangerously close to the track."

Willis was aged about 38 years, and was a resident of Springfield, Tennessee. He was a married man and leaves a family at his home town. He had been in Allenport just two weeks prior to the time he met with the accident which caused his death.

ENTHUSIASTIC REPUBLICAN MEETING AT COUNTY SEAT

Organize for an Aggressive Campaign During the Fall

WOMEN ARE TAKING A PART

A meeting of the Republican county executive committee held at Washington on Monday, was the occasion for a Republican rally, which was largely attended by representative men from every section of the county. It was an enthusiastic meeting, and showed that Republicans of the county were a unit in the support of the National, District and County tickets and that Washington county could be relied upon to cast an old time Republican majority at the November election.

A feature of the meeting was the presence of the ladies, quite a number of whom had been named by Chairman Carothers as members of an additional committee to assist in enrolling the women as voters and who will be expected to take an active part in the affairs of the Republican party in the county from this time on.

After a number of conferences had been held in the morning by various committees the entire assemblage met at the Masonic Association rooms where dinner was served. After dinner addresses were made by "Uncle Banks" Holland, of Cecil, who several years ago introduced a suffrage bill in the legislature at Harrisburg, and who on this occasion had the pleasure of welcoming the women to the privilege of voting; by Col. J. E. Barnett, of Washington; Gilbert E. Koedel, of Donora; Mrs. J. N. O'Neil of Charleroi, who is the chairman of the women's division of the Republican county committee; by Judge McIlvaine; by Col. Edward Martin of Waynesburg, and by Congressman Henry W. Temple

It was late in the afternoon before the meeting adjourned, but throughout it all was an enthusiastic spirit which meant a unanimity of action on the part of the Republicans of the county and which will mean a solid Republican vote in the fall

NAME SECRETARIES FOR COUNTY COMMITTEE

County Chairman C. E. Carothers on Monday announced the appointment of William D. Hancher, Calvin R. Allen and Harry W. Murphy of Washington as assistant secretaries of the Republican county committee. All have been active in the interests of the Republican party and are well known throughout the county.

TO ORGANIZE AN ENGINEERS' ASSOCIATION

The American Association of Engineers will organize a club for the professional engineers of Monongahela, Monessen, Charleroi, Donora, and other communities in this section this evening at the Hotel Wilbur this evening. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

MANY ALIEN WOMEN WILL NOT GET TO VOTE

It is estimated that at least 4,000 Western Pennsylvania women, 21 years and over, will not receive the franchise in time to help choose the next President of the United States because they themselves are not naturalized or because their fathers or husbands have not received citizenship. This estimate was made by officials of the naturalization bureau in Pittsburg on Monday.

BENEFIT GAME FOR BATHING BEACH FUND

A baseball game of more than usual local interest is scheduled to be held at the base ball park on Friday evening, beginning at 6 o'clock. The contending teams will be "Mitchell's Butchers" against "Paulso's All Stars," and both sides promise plenty of action. This will be the last of a three game series, in which each team has taken one game and now they are out for "blood." The proceeds of the game are for the bathing beach fund, a most worthy cause, and one which should cause a generous patronage on the part of the people. The teams are evenly matched in ability, and it is going to be a game worth seeing. There will be all kinds of plays, grandstand and otherwise, by all kinds of stars, invisible and otherwise, and maybe some one of them will pull a 'Babe Ruth" stunt and paste the pill over the river bank. Both teams have their partisans, who will be out in force to encourage the gladiators, who promise to present a game scintillating with big league stuff. Anyhow, don't forget the date, Friday evening, September 3, at 6 o'clock at the Charleroi ball park. It is going to be some game.

DONORA CHURCH IN TROUBLE OVER MINISTERS

A fight in the congregation of St. Paul's Southern Baptist church of Donora has been taken into court and legal proceedings have been instituted to restrain one faction from interfering in any way with Rev. A. P. Phillips in the performance of his duties as pastor of the church. The case comes into court in the form of a bill in equity in which a preliminary injunction is sought, to be made permetual after a hearing. It is claimed in the bill that a minority of the members of the church dismissed the Rev. Mr. Phillips and are now barring him from the church, having called the services of another minister.

"BENEVOLENT ASSIMILATION."

Not long ago the American administration of affairs of Santo Domingo was described by the former secretary to the Minister of Finance of the Dominican Republic as "an arbitrary and inefficient militarism," but, inasmuch as this former secretary is a German of the name of Otto Schoenrich, it may be taken for granted that his view is more jaundiced than impartial. A very different story is now told in the report of Rear-Admiral Snowden, Governor of Santo Domingo under the military regime established by the United States when the affairs of the troubled little country of black-and-tan population were taken over. The American military governor may have ruled with a high hand at times because he had to, but the report shown an efficient administration. According to Admiral Snowden the revenues of the island have been increased from $1700.00 to more than $4,000,000 annually, payments on the bonded debt are such that it may be possible to pay off the $20,000,000 loan thirty years before maturity, taxes unfair to the poor have been readjusted, a public school system established, and roads and public buildings constructed.

In short, order and peace have succeeded chaos and peril. the people may live without fear of cutthroats and are at least on the road to material prosperity. Santo Domingo under American rule seems to be a fairly successful experiment in what we called "benovelent assimilation" in the early days of our occupation of the Phillipines. We have been doing in Santo Domingo pretty much the same thing the English have been doing for generations in many parts of the world, and to defend our work in this instance is to defend theirs in many others. To be sure, it doesn't quite square theoretically with the popular doctrine of the self-determination of small peoples, but in practice all theories must be adapted to conditions. No big nation in those times can escape a "sphere of influence" and if it doesn't do a certain amount of police work in that sphere, other big nations will demand, the right to come in with their warships and collect their just debts, the difficulty about this being that they can't get their money without taking over the little debtor nation's revenues and camping in its front yard for a term of years. So there you are.

ANOTHER AMERICAN CONQUEST.

American soldiers carried baseball to France and doubtless it is in a considerable measure due to them that the American definition of the word "Gentleman" has now gone into the French dictionary. In America a "gentleman" as usually defined is a man who wears clean linen, is educated, has good manners, and is courteous and kind. Here even an uneducated man may be called a gentleman if in other particulars he is notably worthy. But in Europe a gentleman is a man born to privilege or raised to place and power.

"Gentilhomme" in France, like "gentleman" in England, originally meant only a man of "noble origin" or "gentle birth," but in the course of time the use of the term was somewhat extended in France. An ennobled plebeian was called a "parchment gentleman." A country landowner of some fortune was curiously described as "a hare gentleman," and owing to a strange popular notion that a glassmaker was nobled by his business, manufacturers of glass were called "gentilhommos verriers" or gentlemen glassmakers. And now the lexicographers of the French Academy have permitted in the French dictionary also the word gentleman in its "metaphorical and moral sense" such as we employ it, or similar to our definition, in America. The great war may not have made the world altogether safe for democracy, but it seems to have carried the ideal definition of gentleman beyond America's borders.

When Mr. Hohenzollers told Mr. Gerard that he wouldn't stand any nonsense from America he little dreamed that within two years he would be badly whipped and that within four years some of his battered fighting ships would arrive in New York harbor as prizes of war.

The island of Sumatra imported from the United States last year 886,-878 pounds of old newspapers. What proportion of this weight of newspapers goes into exported Sumatra cigars is not definitely known.

The divorce courts have their own peculiar interest in the act of Tennessee in becoming the 36th State. So many Republican husbands have Democratic wives—and vice versa.

Boston may lay exclusive claim to the famous Ponzi, but various grades and degrees of his "financial dementia" are pretty widely distributed throughout the country.

Parties figuring on capturing the "woman vote" are likely to find that it will divide just about as evenly as the vote of the men.

WAGON MINE MEN PROTEST CAR ORDER

A committee representing the wagon operators of the Pittsburg district is planning to go to Washington this week to file a protest against the recent order of the interstate commerce commission, which prohibits allotment of over two cars to other than tipple mines or mines with private sidings and loading devices. Many of the wagon mines in this district of which there are a large number will be compelled to suspend operations unless the order is canceled or modified, it is declared.

To Test the Hearing.

The man with normal hearing can distinguish in a quiet room the ticking of a watch held in the hand of another person five feet away. A man with normal hearing can hear distinctly every word of a conversation being carried on 75 feet away. Again, if you are sitting in a concert room, a theater or a church, do you, when listening to the words of the speaker, lean forward in your seat in order to hear more clearly? If you do, it is a sign that your hearing is less normal than the rest of the audience; and the same applies, of course, to others who find it difficult to catch the words when sitting in a natural position. If you are talking to a person in the street you may find yourself listening acutely for every word he may utter. Such a practice may have become a habit with you; it shows, at any rate, that your hearing is not what it ought to be. If your hearing is not normal—see your doctor at once.

Harbinger of Spring.

Spring comes first to the milliner and second to the florist. Perhaps four months afterward the public perceives her. Yet moralists and ethical students have failed to pay tribute to the two who, above all others, keep alive our faith in spring. How heartening it is to see bars of pale and sour passing through the blizzard, wild roses smiling from a snow weighted brier! In the Valentine month, before the swamps have shown the pussy willow, we may meet white lilies and daffodils, crocuses and tulips, violets and iris, by merely peering through a pane. Snows cannot frighten us nor ice dismay. We gaze upon the jocund hare, the living lilacs of bud, and cherry and know that persimmon will not too long delay.—New York Evening Post.

Bagpipes.

The "pipes" are always associated with the Scottish Highlands, but the fact remains that the Scottish Highlands were the last place on the skirts of civilized Europe to make acquaintance with the instrument. It was unknown there till the fifteenth century or later. The bagpipe (says Dr. J. Logie Robertson in the "Scotsman") comes from the Near East; and, as a musical instrument of some elaboration in its mechanism, it is as old as the time of Jubal, Lamech's son, the inventor (as is supposed) of harps and organs. "In the home of Cain," as George Eliot says, "the arts began." There is a sculptured stone and temple wall evidence that it was in common use in Assyria, Persia, and other countries of the Orient, many a long and fateful century before the Christian reckoning of time began.

Burritt's Remarkable Record.

"Learned Blacksmith" was the epithet bestowed upon Elihu Burritt, the American reformer, author and linguist who lived from 1810 to 1879. He began his career as a blacksmith about 1827, and worked at that trade for many years, during which time he made himself proficient in numerous ancient and modern languages. According to Mathews' "Getting On in the World," Elihu Burritt acquired a mastery of 18 languages and 22 dialects, "not by rare genius, which he disclaimed, but by improving the bits and fragments of time which he could steal from his occupation as a blacksmith."

ABSURD NAMES WORK HARM

May Be Witty, But They Too Frequently Tend to Put Community in Disrepute.

Freakish and absurb names given to communities, villages and counties by some warped wit in the primitive times have a way of persisting, clinging to the community, so that it is most difficult to get rid of them when a new people have succeeded to reside there. Some of these absurd names are so ridiculous they harm the community, tending at all times to put it in disrepute, make it a jest and byword.

All over the country are to be found places where the oldtime wit left his commentary of harmful levity, against which the community struggles. In the northern part of Missouri was a fine community that was given, in the days before the war, the rather sounding name of Burnshirt. The name grew out of an incident that took place when some big-game hunters were encamped at the settlement. The name appealed to the risibilities of the community and for two generations it was considered to bear that name. It is a small district of comparatively level country, but the name of Burnshirt township in Missouri is quite the most widely known of any township in the United States, and strangers could not be induced to locate there because of the name. Instances of the same sort could be found in the map of Ohio.—Ohio State Journal.

LIKE RAINBOW IN THE SEA

Gloriously Tinted Water That Washes Bermuda's Shores Is an Ever-Fascinating Marvel.

Hundreds of miles from any coast, surrounded on every side by the restless surges of the great Atlantic—there stands in the midst of sea—lies Bermuda. Will not strictly one of the West Indies, yet its fauna and flora, its geology and its formation are so similar to those of the Antilles that we may well consider it as a West Indian island gone astray, and set down—or rather pushed up—a thousand miles or more from its fellows.

If the sight-seers at Bermuda by daylight there is ample opportunity for the visitor to view the island as the vessel steers slowly along the northern shores and threads her way through the tortuous channel between sharp-fanged reefs toward Hamilton. Perhaps nowhere else in all the world is there such gloriously tinted water. Indigo where deep, azure and sapphire nearer shore, opalescent turquoise in the shallows, and marbled with royal purple and amethyst where reefs and corals dot the white sand of its bed, the sea that laps Bermuda's shores is an ever-changing, ever-fascinating marvel: a thing of wondrous beauty impossible to describe in words or to reproduce in pigments.—A. Hyatt Verrill in "The Book of the West Indies."

Color-Blindness.

It may come as a surprise to many to learn that fewer than fifty-five people in every thousand are more or less color-blind. The commonest form of color-blindness is not—as is usually supposed—the inability to distinguish red and green. That affects one person in fifty-five. The most usual symptom is to get mixed between blue and green. One person in sixty cannot distinguish between brown and green. Color-blindness is more common among educated than among uneducated people, and is far more usual among men than women. Only about one woman in a thousand is badly color-blind. A very odd fact is that musicians are more liable to this affection than any other class or profession. Illness may cause color-blindness. There is a case of a woman who became entirely color-blind after a form of ear disease, while a signalman who had suffered from lock-jaw or tetanus became equally unable to distinguish color.

The Indian ocean and the waters of the tropical Pacific are inhabited by a great number of wholly aquatic venomous sea serpents that possess deadly fangs, and sometimes swim in schools of countless thousands. These snakes have a paddle-like tail to assist them in swimming. An offshoot of this species is the subfamily containing the formidable cobras and their allies, according to Raymond Ditmars curator of reptiles at the New York zoo, who are treacherously deceptive in appearance. All of the very large serpents are members of a single family—the Boidea. None is poisonous and the members of this family kill their prey by constriction.

Ants Guard Trees.

The Cecropias are remarkable trees, very widely distributed throughout the tropics. Their slender trunks are crowned with four leaves at the ends of the branches. A few active ants run continually along the branches and leaves, but if the tree is shaken slightly an army of ants rush out by small apertures, ready for a savage assault on the intruder. This is the most terrible guardian that the tree has retained to protect it from its most formidable enemy the "leaf cutter" ant. The defenders rarely leave their retreat, where they live on small whitish egg-shaped bodies about one-twelfth of an inch long, known as Mueller's corpuscles.

SAYS EVIDENCE MUST BACK SEARCH

On the advice of Judge Charles P. Orr in the United States District Court at Pittsburg on Monday, two men changed their plea of "guilty" to "no defense" to charges of violating the national prohibition law. Each was sentenced to pay a fine of $75. The court said Federal prohibition agents, who entered the home of the two with warrants in search of illicit stills, violated the Volstead act, as there was no evidence either defendant sold liquor. According to the prohibiton agents they found stills in the homes of both men, together with a small quantity of moonshine.

Judge Orr, as he has done on a number of other occasions, asserted a private home must not be searched, even with a warrant, unless there is evidence sales of liquor are being made on the premises.

MANY TOWNS TAKE UP FORESTRY OFFER

Approximately 200 municipalities in this State are taking advantage of the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry's offer to supply free shade trees to towns and cities. Letters from many of them received by John W. Keller, chief of the bureau of silviculture, who is in charge of the department's shade tree work, indicate that they have already named their shade tree commissions. Other boroughs are preparing to organize commissions and still other cities are asking for further information. Monongahela has taken up the matter and named a commission, which will receive a supply of trees from the State. It is proposed to line the Dry Run road in the city limits with shade trees. Charleroi might find it profitable to do the same thing and plant a number of trees along Lincoln avenue extension for instance.

[illegible] of the Pennsylvania railroad system has undertaken an aggressive campaign to break up a wrongful practice, which has been indulged in by [illegible] dealing tribes or [illegible] employees to railroad employees for the purpose of obtaining, [illegible] allotment [illegible] instances [illegible] with [illegible] others the employees have so far distributed [illegible] gasoline to solicit [illegible] "wagon mines" in the bituminous coal regions of Pennsylvania have furnished a majority of [illegible] so far uncovered, but the [illegible] practice has also extended [illegible] measure to other lines of [illegible]. In all instances where it has been traced, the railroad [illegible] have been at [illegible] from the service.

In one of the most recent cases, [illegible] superintendent of a coal company's store in Western Pennsylvania was found to have corrupted the railroad company's car distributor in his district and to have entered into collusion with him to purchase the output of the "wagon mine" at low prices, in consideration of furnishing a full car supply. Upon unquestionable proofs of the facts the car distributor was at once discharged. Similar action has been taken in a number of other cases and redoubled precautions will be taken in the future to wipe out entirely a practice which is grossly unfair to the general shipping public, demoralizing to the employes, and directly in violation of the spirit of the laws forbidding discrimination in the utilization of railroad facilities.

CHARLEROI EVENS UP BASE BALL SERIES

The Charleroi Independents have evened up the series with the Page Steel company nine, defeating the latter team by a score of 6 to 2. Krepps was on the rubber for Page, but weakened after the sixth inning, the Charleroi players taking advantage of the situation and putting over enough runs to win the game. McIlvaine pitched for Charleroi and let Page down with six hits. The final score was 5 to 2 in favor of Charleroi. The fifth game remains to be played.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That article nine, section eight, be amended to read as follows:

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as provided herein and in section fifteen of this article, shall never exceed seven (7) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, but the debt of the city of Philadelphia may be increased in such amount that the total city debt of said city shall not exceed ten per centum (10) upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of the city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be deducted from such debt so much of the debt of said city as shall have been incurred, or is about to be incurred, and the proceeds thereof expended, or about to be expended, upon any public improvement, or in the construction, purchase, or condemnation of any public utility, or part thereof, or facility therefor, if such public improvement or public utility, or part thereof, whether separately or in connection with any other public improvement or public utility, or part thereof, may reasonably be expected to yield revenue in excess of operating expenses sufficient to pay the interest and sinking-fund charges thereon. The method of determining such amount, so to be deducted, may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness for any purpose the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty (50) years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity, the payment to such sinking-fund to be in equal graded annual or other periodical instalments. Where any indebtedness shall be or shall have been incurred by said city of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvements of public works or utilities of any character, from which income or revenue is to be derived by said city, or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city, such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for, and may include the amount of, the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction, and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges as required by section ten, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of said work.

Make Your Signature Legible.

Few people sign their names legibly. With a great many there is a positive trick or affectation of illegibility. It is a relic of the old idea that, to forestall forgery, there should be something peculiar, very individual, even cryptic, about a formal signature. Such signatures are purely egotistic; they are all right, no doubt, if you are Horace Greeley or Rudyard Kipling, or the treasurer of the United States, or somebody exceedingly widely known, but they are a nuisance to the world if you are obscure.

Secret Well Guarded.

There is a kind of pottery and metal work made in China and Japan which for permanency and beauty surpasses anything we have ever been able to produce. It is commonly known as Chinese and Japanese enamel ware. The Chinese have known how to make it for about two thousand years; we do not know how to do it today. Such consummate skill is required, and the ingredients of the pigments have been so well guarded, that although we know the process we have been unable to duplicate the work.

Mosquitoes Need Pure Water.

That mosquitoes, like other animals, require pure water is one of the surprises of the United States public health service. Larvae were placed in stagnant water containing much decaying vegetation and usually weakened rapidly, dying in a few days. It was not determined whether the effect was due to bacteria of protozoa, or to carbon dioxide or other gases from the decomposition. Given plenty of food the purest water seemed best for the mosquitoes and more than cleaning stagnant pools will be required to get rid of them.

English Marriage Laws.

Under English law a marriage may be declared void if both parties give false names, but it will not be declared void if only one party gives his name falsely.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

No Welcome for the Cooties.

Frequent epidemics of typhus in Mexico are a constant source of worry to our border states. Several thousand of Mexicans cross the line every month, and while health officials are at hand to "delouse" them every time they come in, a few undoubtedly get over without this formality and proceed to the mining and lumber camps of the West carrying their cooties with them. Typhus-infected cooties, once set loose in a country, so distribute themselves in trains, cars, theaters and homes that literally nobody is safe. Moreover, recent figures show four out of five cases of epidemic typhus to be fatal. An appreciation of these two facts will cause the citizen to agree with the public health service and the war department that the typhus cootie cannot be too completely barred from immigration into the United States.—Exchange.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Says Nothing Like Plain Argo-Phosphate Put on Firm, Solid, Stay There Flesh and Muscle and Increase Strength, Vim, Vigor and Nerve Force

Physicians claim there is nothing that will increase weight, strength and endurance like organic phosphate commonly known by druggists as argo-phosphates. It is inexpensive and is sold by all leading druggists everywhere under a guarantee to give satisfaction or money refunded. Weakness and thinness are usually due to starved nervous conditions.

Our bodies need more phosphates than are contained in the foods we eat.

If you wish a more rounded figure, and plump well-developed arms, neck and bust in place of hollows, ... phate as it builds up and restores ... down nervous conditions by phosphatizing the system. It transforms the appearance and an increase in weight is often times quickly produced.

The increase in weight also aids in improving the general health. Sleeplessness, nervousness, lack of energy and ambition quickly disappear.

Pale cheeks are changed to rosy ones and dull eyes become bright.

Miss Lena Brown of Atlanta, Ga., who only weighed 90 pounds reports that she gained 10 pounds in two weeks time and says argo-phosphate has made a different person of her and she has never felt better in her life.

SPECIAL NOTICE:—Owing to the fact that so many physicians and druggists are recommending argo-phosphate for relieving all nervous, worn-out debilitated conditions and the usually large sale for argo-phosphate there will be found in the market numerous substitutes for the genuine article. All imitations are inferior preparations and owing to its unusual flesh producing qualities it should not be used by any one unless they desire to put on flesh and increase in weight. Dispensed by Piper's Pharmacy.

SKIN DISEASES

ARE EXPELLED QUICKEST BY ANTISEPTIC APPLICATION

...skin trouble should also be healing. Doesn't your sound judgment tell you that this is true? F. J. John sells a salve called SIM-CO which is an antiseptic application that just fills the bill. It does not soil the skin; yet it is a most powerful antiseptic and an active healing ointment. Eczema, salt rheum, tetter and similar skin affections disappear with the aid of SIM-CO SALVE or F. J. John who is the agent is authorized to return to you the purchase price.

The price is so favorably trifling it is not to be considered. SIM-CO SALVE is so healing and so powerfully antiseptic, that it is a mighty good ointment for those open sores which you thought were incurable.

Nothing like SIM-CO SALVE for a rubbing liniment.

Do not make the mistake of not getting the right remedy at the right time. Get a jar today. Price 30c, 60c, and $1.00 per jar. If your druggist does not keep it, send us 35c and the parcel post will bring it to your door by return mail. Wm. M. Simpson Drug Co., Wholesale Druggists, Wilkinsburg Station, Pittsburg, Pa.

Make Your Own BUG KILLER P. D. Q.

You can easily make at home a full quart of the strongest bug-killer for 35c, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and ants. This recipe will not burn, rot or stain the clothing and is entirely different from any other formula we know of, as this will kill the eggs.

Procure of your druggist a 35c package of Pyrex Powder (just P. D. Q. then you will have the correct) made expressly to rid bed, ... houses and dwellings of pests, ... and other insects.

... for the powder, ... to ... proper use of P. D. Q.

... Hospital size $2.50—makes five gallons. Your druggist has it or he can get it for you or sent prepaid either size by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind., upon receipt of price. Look for the devil's head on every package.
